Who cares. Corona virus only kills boomers. We're destroying the entire world economy and taking on debt that will take tens of years to pay off just so a couple of boomers can live another 1-5 years. The Swedecucks actually got something right for once.

Last night I was playing cards with family's friends. The neighbor lady suddenly says:
Notice that no one is talking Corona any longer? We're 11 days into the protests. What starts happening in three more days, considering all those people who've been out there standing side to side?
She's the least red-pilled person I know, however, her question was very thought-provoking.
>the title of this thread, along with your Angel of Death comment, made her words hit me once again. Hmm.

Look to the right, it's the outline of a country.

The symbols in the middle are just temperatures

The red streaks are wind directions

But somebody saw it looked vaguely like a skull and thought 'le ebin spooky picture' and shooped it a bit

Why do people keep posting shit like this? Deaths are steady and cases are rising. Just showing a graph of cases doesn't show much. This can be caused by additional testing. We really need a graph of deaths and percent of tests positive overlaid on graphs like the OPs to get a better picture.

But 95%+ of the people who die from Corona are old people who already had health complications. In other words, a lot of them probably only had a couple years left anyway.
My granddad is very old but even he is against the lockdown. He put it to me very bluntly. He told me something along the lines of 'Anon, I probably only have a few years left and I want to be able to spend it with my family. The way it is now all I can do is stay inside and watch TV. That's not how I want to spend my last couple of years.'
Old people can't see their families, they can't go outside much, they can't travel etc. The lockdown sucks for them too.

One of two things
1. Dumb ass virtue signalers who probably virtued signaled during coronas peak (wear a mask, dont go outside, wash your hands 30 times a day) will now cause a massive spike in cases/deaths and wont be blamed for it or will refuse to accept the responsibility

2. The virus isnt as deadly or contagious as people proclaimed and you can gather in mass, without fear of catching the 'Rona especially during the summer months
Corona COVERAGE was a hoax from the beginning and anyone should be able to see that wrong, it's actually both of those things

the issue is the k not the r0
2 is true on average in most places but in the places it's not true it becomes a civic emergency (wuhan, nyc, lombardy). medical services overwhelmed is the concern.

but people become inured to these childish dichotomies that simplify everything into red and blue, this or that, black and white. they asks "lockdown good or bad" or "second wave or no second wave". this is the product of low intelligence. there is no question about second wave. there will be second waves its a question of where and when those second and third and fourth waves occur. some places have no wave, some will have 1 long multi-year wave, some will have a lot of little 3-4 person waves every other week. don't be stupid. think about this stuff before you try and have conversations about "will there be a second wave"? how inane, truely

I'm in nyc where things got pretty bad for a bit. Dozens of my moms patients died, a lot of her coworkers who rarely get sick were or are out of work and incredibly ill. People from the local church died, neighbors got sick and recovered (they lost so much weight I thought they had cancer or something). But that's to be expected in a massive city with a lot of travelers and a lot of people sharing confined spaces like trains buses offices etc. Then you get people living in some quiet town of 10k people foaming at the mouth saying corona is a psyop because their location wasn't overwhelmed and maybe a dozen elderly people in a nursing home caught it and passed. The black and white thinking ('everyone will get it and die so EVERYWHERE needs to be locked down like Wuhan" vs "the virus is a hoax") is definitely the most low IQ thing I've seen to come from this.
